Biography/History of William E. Woollard

William E. Woollard, a New York native, was born in Albany on March 26, 1876 to Henry and Margaret Woollard. He was educated in Albany and eventually pursued law at Albany Law School. He graduated with a Bachelor of Laws in 1897 and was admitted to the bar in the same year. He was an active member of society, strongly advocating for the improvement of the Hudson River channel. Throughout his life he held a number of political positions including General of the State, Vice President of Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association, director of National Rivers and Harbors Congress and New York State Waterways Association, director of Albany Chamber of Commerce, as well as chairman of the legal Advisory Board in Albany during World War I. He married Harriet Byers Holland in 1901 and died on September 1, 1940.

Almond Holland, William E. Woollard's father-in-law, was a professor as well as a 19th century amateur photographer in Albany. He was born on October 1, 1844 at Sandy Hill, Washington County and received his early education in Saratoga. He moved on to graduate from the State Normal School in 1865, and shortly after became a professor at a number of Albany's educational institutions. In 1875 he assumed the position of principal at P.S. Six located in Arbor Hill where he worked until he died in 1917. Known as the "Mr. Chips" of Albany, Holland is recorded as a prominent and well-loved member of Albany society. He owned a vacation home on Lake Catherine in Vermont, which is where the majority of his glass plate negatives originated from-now in the museum's possession. He has been referred to as, "...a man of fine artistic taste and would have made his mark as an artist had he chosen that profession. He was a skilled photographer and exhibited frequently to the people of his section most excellent lantern slides, many of his own making." His career formed a connecting link between the practical present and the romantic past.

<h3>Other Finding Aids</h3>

[This would be for additional guides to the same collection. These other access tools would describe all or parts of the collection. For example, there might be a published edition of the inventory or the materials may have come to the repository with some sort of inventory prepared by the creator. File plans are formal examples of such finding aids (with a separate element all their own) that sometimes accompany organizational needs.]
